By Governor

New State Law Signed

A new state law, just signed by Governor Reagan, will impose new regulations upon any county which reduces or eliminates facilities or services for the poor at its county hospital, or sells or transfers the facilities to private operation after Jan. 1, 1975.

The measure, Senate Bill 2369, introduced by Sen. Anthony Beilenson and co-authored by Senator Mervyn Dymally, requires continued care for the indigent, who generally feel the greatest impact when change occurs in county hospital function. "A large portion of these are the elderly," Dymally pointed out.

Counties where such actions are under consideration include Orange, Monterey, Trinity, Yolo, Tehama, Humboldt, Del Norte, Sutter, Yuba, Sonoma, Mendocino, Tulare, San Mateo, Santa Barbara and Placer, according to Dymally, whose Sub-committee on Medical Education and Health Needs has been holding hearings on county hospital closings.

According to Dymally, "County hospitals in at least 11 counties have closed or been leased out to private firms. Fifteen other counties are facing similar possibilities. While county hospitals are required by law to provide medical care for the poor, this does not carry over to private hospitals or non-county agencies that assume county functions."

Said Beilenson, Chairman of the Senate Health and Welfare Committee, "County hospitals have been closed without proper planning or concern for the consequences. The new law will require that an orderly process be followed, and that the impact of a closing be carefully explored before the action is taken."

Under the new law a County Board of Supervisors must hold adequate hearings before it closes its county hospital or transfers its functions to non-county operation. Private facilities or individuals assuming county hospital functions are required to provide medical care for the needy, and provide the same quality of care as provided for non-needy patients.

The new law further requires such counties to provide a 24-hour information service explaining the availability of medical care for the poor, together with listings in local telephone books. These regulations apply to all counties which effect change in their county hospital operations after January 1, 1975. It does not apply retroactively to changes which a county has made in its county medical facilities' operation prior to that date.

Under the new law, proposed closure actions or reductions in county services must be reviewed by the State Department of Health and local health planning agencies.

Monterey, Trinity and Yolo counties are currently examining possibilities of turning county hospitals over to private management. In Tehama county, a survey is being taken on possible consolidation or county takeover of all hospitals. There are no plans to close at this time.

Humboldt and Del Norte counties are considering consolidation, closure or leasing out to a private firm.

In Sutter and Yuba counties, consolidation and closure are being weighed. In this case, the area is saturated with private facilities and the need for a county hospital has been questioned.

The hospital in Sonoma county is operating with a deficit, though there is no discussion of closure at present. In Mendocino, however, the county hospital did contract to a private firm last year, is now operating without a deficit, and plans to continue operations.

The county hospital in Tulare is presently on good footing, following a crisis last year in which the decision to close was made by the Board of Supervisors, then reversed after public protest. San Mateo county, in the meantime, is undergoing a similar battle. Orange County is in the midst of transferring ownership to the University of California at Irvine.

Santa Barbara earlier considered the possibility of closing, but has decided to remain in operation.

The county of Placer intends to terminate operation of its county facility as soon as a new private hospital is completed some time in the next 12-18 months.

Said Dymally, "We recognize the right of the needy to adequate medical care. This measure insures them the continued quality care to which they are entitled, despite major shifts occurring in the operation of several counties' hospitals."

Contract Legislation Becomes Law

A bill by Assemblyman Frank Murphy, Jr. (R-Santa Cruz) increasing from $2,000 to $4,500 the amount of services for which a county contract without public bidding has been signed into law by Governor Ronald Reagan.

The new law takes effect in January, 1975, and only applies to counties with populations of 168,500 or less. The limit in larger counties is $6,500.

Murphy said the current $2,000 limit on the amount of services for which a smaller county can contract without public bidding was set in 1949 "and needed to be increased to help offset the effects of inflation over the past 25 years."

Stadille Named To New Position

Robert Stadille, 43, has been named principal of the Fremont Junior High school in Seaside effective October 1, 1974.

Dr. Harrison, Superintendent of the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District made the announcement Thursday, September 26.

Harrison said that Mr. Stadille's success as a 7-8th grade principal and the Leadership which he has provided beyond his regular duties, contributed to his selection to this 7-9th grade assignment.

Stadille developed and administered the educational specifications and acted as District consultant for the building of the junior high.

The replacement for Stadille at the Los Arboles junior high school will be announced next Tuesday.

PTA Seeks New Members

"Every Child Needs You - All Year Long" is the theme adopted by the California State PTA for its annual membership enrollment during the month of October.

Miss Jean Stapleton, star of CBS Television's award-winning series "All in the Family" will serve as Honorary Membership Chairman for the National PTA for 1974-75. In accepting, Miss Stapleton stated "It is indeed a privilege to serve as Honorary Membership Chairman for the PTA this coming year. I feel it is so important that every parent, from Edith Bunker to your next door neighbor, knows that the best way to get things done for all children and youth is through the PTA."

Mrs. Lillie Herdon, president of the National PTA, states "It is essential that each PTA member take his place as a working partner, with educators, so that all children receive an adequate education. In my opinion, the degree of success we must have will not be reached without heavy parental involvement in the planning, implementation, and evaluation of the educational process."

As membership increases, the services the PTA provides can expand. The more involved PTAs become in the decision-making process at their local schools, the more clout the PTA has as a national organization.

Parents, teachers, students, grandparents, and all interested citizens are invited to join PTA. Contact your local school (elementary, intermediate, middle, junior or senior high) and state that you would like to join the PTA and become involved.

The thrust for the State PTA, according to Mrs. Stanley Solomon, chairman of the membership task force, will be to encourage a year-round membership enrollment by every PTA UNIT IN California.

Arts and Crafts Festival Planned

In honor of Seaside's birthday, the Park and Recreation Dept., the Park and Recreation and Art Commissions of Seaside are co-sponsoring a 1974 SEASIDE Arts Festival on Saturday, Oct. 12, 1974, from 10 am to 4 pm in the Gateway Auto Center, inviting both the professional and amateur artists and craftsmen from the Monterey Peninsula to exhibit and to give public demonstrations of their talents and skills.

Arts and Crafts Extravaganza will be the theme for this outdoor show, featuring also the Community choir, community band, Seaside Twirl Club, Seaside Ballet Troupe, and others.

The exhibitors and demonstrators will be assigned spaces and be responsible in setting up their own displays.

Blocked off areas for participants, performers, and parking spaces will be marked that day, according to Cleveland Williams, Director of P & R Dept., and certificates or some kind of memento will be issued to all who participated.

There will be two divisions: professional and amateur, in the art and craft exhibition areas, according to Chairman C. Y. Lee of the Art Commission, and 40 to 50 artists and craftsmen are expected to show, and there is no entry fee, no commission charge for any artist.

All those who are interested in participating are asked to go to Seaside City Hall to obtain a guideline sheet and fill out an entry form before Oct. 1, 1974. Works of art may be brought before the Art Commission for previewing on Mon. Sept. 16, 1974 at 7:30 pm in Seaside City Hall. Please

Labor Takes Steps To Create Public Service Jobs

WASHINGTON -- Secretary of Labor Peter J. Brennan has allocated $65 million to state and local governments as the first step in the creation of 85,000 additional public service jobs called for by President Ford.

Brennan said these funds are being made immediately available for the creation of over 12,000 jobs, and an additional $350 million will be allocated by the end of the month.

The allocations of the $65 million are going to areas having 6.5 percent or higher unemployment and are based on the number of unemployed above the 6.5 percent level in the area compared to the number in all such areas throughout the country.

The Department's regional offices will begin immediately to transmit the funds to mayors, county executives and governors so they can start hiring unemployed and underemployed people.

The $65 million was made available from the Secretary of Labor's discretionary funds under Title II of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) for the 1974 fiscal year. The $350 million will come from 1975 fiscal year funds.

In a meeting with national labor leaders at the White House Sept. 11, President Ford said the unemployment situation "calls for full use of available toos and dollars."

He said he had instructed Secretary of Labor Brennan to speed the allocation of available funds for public service jobs.

Responding to the President's announcement, Brennan directed that distribution of funds begin immediately. With computerized unemployment information already on hand, actual funding was underway in less than 48 hours.

A separate allocation of funds to indian reservation will be made later.

Funds under Title II may be used for public service employment by states and localities or they may be used for other manpower services, such as training, counseling or job development, authorized under Title I of the Act.

The Department recently distributed to prime sponsors nearly $300 million in CETA Title II funds for 1974, as well as almost $250 million of Emergency Employment Act funds (EEA) provided in a second supplemental appropriation.

This $550 million added to the $415 million indicated above can provide some 170,000 public service jobs this coming winter.

FOR EQUAL OPPORTUNITY - Secretary of Labor Peter J. Brennan (with pen) and John H. Powell, Jr., chairman, Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC), sign a memorandum of understanding between the U.S. Department of Labor and EEOC to improve enforcement of equal employment opportunity rules. Witnessing the ceremony are, seated, far left, Philip J. Davis, director of the Labor Department's Office of Federal Contract Compliance (OFCC), and seated far right, Under Secretary of Labor Richard F. Schubert; standing, from left: Marshall H. Harris, Labor Department, Marialice Carter, special assistant to Powell, Solicitor of Labor William J. Kilberg; Robert H. Hobson, associate director, OFCC; Doris Wooten, special assistant to Davis, and David A. Drachsler, Labor Department.

Helping is Her Business

JACKSONVILLE, FLA. -- "It's a good feeling to help people who are entitled to compensation for job-related injury or illness."

That's the way Esther Rahming views her job as supervisory claims examiner in the U.S. Labor Department's Jacksonville District Office of Workers' Compensation Program, part of the Department's Employment Standards Administration (ESA).

This is the office responsible for administering the Federal Employees Compensation Act in eight southeastern states--Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, North Carolina,

South Carolina, Tennessee and Kentucky. When a federal worker is disabled or dies from a job-related injury or illness, he or his dependents may be entitled to certain benefits.

Ms. Rahming examines these claims to see if the claimants are entitled to compensation under the Act, based on medical and other evidence.

Her expertise in this area has been developed through a long career with the agency. A native of Norfolk, Va., and a graduate of Wilberforce University, Ms. Rahming came to Jacksonville in 1959 as an accountant for Edward Ala.

Waters College. Four years later she joined the Office of Workers' Compensation here and attained her present position through a series of promotions.

Almost any time after office hours, Ms. Rahming can be found working with young people, particularly in the area of rehabilitation of drug users and other inner city projects.

She and her husband, Harcord Rahming, have two children: Kimberly, an eighth grader at ephesus Junior Academy, and Wayne, a senior premedical student at Oakland College, Huntsville, Ala.

WORKER'S COMPENSATION - Esther Rahming, a claims examiner with the U.S. Labor Department at Jacksonville, Fla., searches for data to determine whether a worker is entitled to compensation or other benefits under the Federal Employees' Compensation Act.

EDITORIAL

Importance of Weekly Newspapers

There are several weekly newspapers on the Monterey Peninsula including The Post, The Pacific Grove Tribune, The Carmel Pine Cone, and the Carmel Valley Outlook.

We cannot stress the importance of retaining these free voices, especially in view of the fact that there is only one local daily which boasts a circulation of over 30,000, highest "circulation of all dailies between San Jose and Santa Barbara," to quote that paper's statistics.

Why is it vital to retain these papers? A prime example follows:

There is no doubt that a news medium which has no opposition controls advertising, prices of advertising, politics and the news. Although it is a responsibility of each news medium to print the news unbiasedly, the American public is experiencing nationwide a trend to "slant" the news. Front page headlines appear designed to sell newspapers and impress the advertisers of their wide circulation which should appeal to them. The news can be slanted any way the medium desires, and seldom does a reporter come along who does not inject into the story his views, unconscious as it may be at times.

Exposure of public officials seems to be the present "kick." And rightfully so, especially if this exposure concerns an issue reflecting upon this individual's character and-or his activities which may be adverse to the public interest.

During a recent election, attention was brought to the hierarchy of the Monterey Peninsula Herald of some untruths in campaign literature circulated by certain candidates in the Seaside municipal election. The person or persons who were the sources of this information were respected members of the community. Statements made by certain candidates were erroneous, false or unfounded. Yet no effort was made to determine their validity.

An advertisement was rejected which would have served the same purpose. Yet, records show that this same newspaper never hesitated to print disparaging remarks concerning other public officials as news items. Oh sure, the disparaged was given an opportunity to answer, but the damage had already been done.

We have no quarrel with these exposures, provided they were well founded. But we do question the objectivity of this daily when they select those to be disparaged, and show favoritism to others whom they choose not to expose.

We believe that there is a possibility that the reason this untruthful campaign literature was not exposed is because that paper may have been considering endorsement of one or more of these candidates for office.

If this was the case, and we hope not, we must deplore this type of monopolistic practice. And we cannot stress more the unfairness of suppressing the news.

It is extremely important that the weekly newspapers remain in existence.

Murphy Takes Position

Assemblyman Frank Murphy, Jr. (R-Santa Cruz) recently reaffirmed his position in favor of total repeal of the special retirement "bonus" created by reapportionment for legislators leaving office this year.

At a special session called by Governor Reagan to consider repeal of the special provision, Murphy said the feature which allows legislators to begin drawing retirement regardless of age should be repealed without exception.

Murphy pointed out that the previously voted in favor of allowing floor action on a bill by Assemblyman Robert McLennan to repeal the early retirement provision last August.

Letters to The Editor

Dear Editor,
Seaside has grown rapidly. It has the largest population on the Monterey peninsula. Marina, a neighboring village likely to become a city, is increasing in population of late very rapidly. It now has over 15,000 inhabitants.

Thoughtful citizens ask: Are such communities merely growing size? What about beauty? Are buildings going up — homes, condominiums, apartments, business, that are designed harmoniously and of lovely coloring? Are parking lots as attractively-colored as possible? Are they, as much as possible hidden from sight, fenced off by trees and tall shrubs — not ugly asphalt abominations?

Are light posts, and telephone poles, and traffic poles, and signs, all nice to look at and properly placed? Or are they a sorry sight, put up helter-skelter by unimaginative officials? Are major roads and streets like Fremont, Del Monte, Reservation Road (of Marina) easy to cross, with well-marked crosswalks? Do they have a median strip of lovely bushes, small trees, and flowers throughout their length of the town, so as to add to the grace of the city or village?

Are there sidewalks alongside every street, and are bicyclists kept off them, so people can walk without danger? Are their constantly-planned separate bike paths, fenced off from streets and sidewalks, since more bikes are being built each year of late than cars? Are their delightfully colored and designed shopping malls?

What effective steps — besides routine policing — if an inadequate sort — are being done to reduce holdups, robberies of homes, and other serious crimes to the barest fraction of what now goes on? We hear and read of the many crimes daily!

Boasting of more population, more businesses and buildings, is not enough! Officials and residents must realize that a community must grow desirable — safe, attractive, offer more opportunities to make a living, have more cultural activities of a worthwhile sort, and make for abetter life. THAT'S WHAT COUNTS! Ideas can be obtained from more lovely towns in our state to help make Seaside and Marina very beautiful.

Sincerely yours,
George Herman, Marina

Dear Editor:

I have been a registered Republican for sixty years. I believe in the two-party system. I will remain a Republican because I believe my party best represents the basic principles set forth in the United States Constitution of "promoting the general welfare".

The greatest threat to the general welfare today is a disregard for political morality and when a candidate of my party fosters a measure to establish a smoking room in our schools; votes to ease restriction on the use of marijuana; votes to increase legislators' salaries in an off-year, and against the same in an election year; I feel he is not following the party's principle, and I can not vote for him.

My vote will be for Anne Garni because she does stand for principle and is not dictated by political expediency.

Sincerely,
Carl Tuttle

State Approves Medi-Cal Pay

The state today approved supplemental Medi-Cal payments to nursing facilities in California which provide new rehabilitation and treatment services for mentally ill and developmentally disabled persons. Funds for the special services-expected to cost the state about $4 million this fiscal year-were approved by the 1974 legislature. The State Department of Health and the California Association of health facilities, in a joint statement, said that emergency regulations to put the increases into effect have been filed with the Secretary of State. Additional payments will range from $2.94 to $3.82 per patient day, depending on the type of special care provided. The average amount paid to nursing facilities for basic patient care is $17.81 per day.

Dr. William Mayer, state health director, said the new services will be provided by trained staff and will be available only in nursing facilities with approved continuing care programs.

"These programs include intensive rehabilitation services for the mentally disordered, psychiatric services at the sub-acute level and individually planned services for the developmentally disabled," he said. "We are aware of public concern about the level of care in community facilities, and we hope that these special services and programs will alleviate some of the concern."

Mayer said community mental health programs and regional centers for the developmentally disabled will certify patients needing extra care. Several months will be required to establish the new services and nursing facilities qualifying for additional payments must meet all program and licensing standards, he said. About 60 nursing facilities in the state are expected to qualify for the Medi-Cal supplements.

Emission New Law Passed

California Air Resources Board will have authority to adopt, by regulation, emission standards for new motorcycles, beginning with the 1976 model year, as it does presently for automobiles and trucks. The authority is granted in legislation signed by Governor Reagan Monday. The standards would apply to new motorcycles only; retrofit of existing vehicles would require additional legislation.

"Motorcycles emit far greater amounts of hydrocarbon and carbon monoxide (CO) than do 1975 automobiles", Air Resources Board Executive Officer William Simmons said today. "For instance, 1975 cars will be limited to .9 grams per mile of hydrocarbon emissions; two-stroke motorcycles as they are presently produced pour out from five to 25 grams per mile up to 4.8 grams per mile of hydrocarbons, according to Air resources Board tests.

The carbon monoxide statistics are similar. The 1975 standard for automobiles is 9 grams per mile. Today's two-stroke cycles emit as much as 50 grams per mile CO, and four stroke cycles up to 46 grams per mile."

Approximately 625,000 motorcycles were registered in California for on-highway use during 1973. Motorcycle manufacturers estimate the number of unregistered off-road motorcycles at 162,500. The new law applies to all motorcycles registered or identified by the Department of Motor Vehicles which are sold in the State.

"In dealing with motorcycles, the Air Resources Board believes it is less restrictive to control emissions by technology rather than by restricting the use of the machines as has been proposed by EPA," Simmons said.

Senator Craig Biddle was author of the new law.

Power Plants Undergo Study

Emissions from the Haynes Power Plant near Long Beach, which is operated by the Los Angeles City Department of Water and Power, will be measured in early October for a period of four days by the California Air Resources Board.

The Board has contracted with Meteorology Research Incorporated (MRI), Rockwell International Science Center (RISC), California Institute of Technology (CIT), the California Department of Health, the Air and Industrial Hygiene Laboratory (AIHL), and Environmental Measurements, Inc. (EMI) to conduct a one-year study of "The Chemistry, Dispersion, and Transport of Air Pollutants Emitted From Fossil Fuel Power Plants."

Objectives of the study are (a) to determine the impact on air quality of emissions of sulfur plant combustion of fuel oils, (b) to define the effect of the emissions on the formation of airborne particulate matter, and (c) to assess the plume dispersion characteristics and transport of emissions under different meteorological conditions.

MRI is performing airborne measurements of pollutant concentrations within the power plant plumes using an instrumented aircraft. This activity will be conducted for four days in early October at the Haynes Power Plant. Los Angeles Air Pollution Control District will perform stack emission sampling at the plant as part of the study, also.

MRI will also measure and analyze pertinent meteorological data.

RISC will provide ground level air monitoring support for the project. CIT will be responsible for release of gaseous plume tracer material (sulfur hexafluoride) into selected power plant stacks and for downwind measurement of this chemical so that plume trajectories may be identified.

AIHL will undertake the chemical analysis of the particulate matter samples.

Citizen's Project Launched

A three-year campaign keyed to the American Bicentennial is being launched to get more citizens involved in community decision-making.

The project will be carried out through a new nonprofit tax-exempt organization called Citizen Involvement Network to be headed by Willard Wirtz, former U. S. Secretary of Labor.

Mr. Wirtz announced the project today on behalf of three private foundations which are providing planning grants for the undertaking. The foundations are the Charles F. Kettering Foundation, of Dayton, Ohio; the Lilly Endowment, Inc., of Indianapolis, Indiana; and the JDR 3rd Fund, of New York.

Initiation of the project follows a comprehensive two-year study by the Kettering Foundation throughout the United States. Kettering's findings led to the conclusion that a carefully monitored, experimental program should be undertaken to assess the potentialities of citizen involvement in community decision-making.

The American Revolution Bicentennial Administration is granting $250,000 in matching funds for program support. The grant, the largest ARBA has made to a private nonprofit organization, is from non-appropriated funds derived from the sale of Congressionally approved Bicentennial medals.

According to Mr. Wirtz, the Citizen Involvement Network will include as many as 20 communities of varying size and location in which significant citizen participatory programs are already under way or are being initiated. These communities, to be chosen early in 1975, will receive both technical and financial assistance.

The purpose of the experiment will be to identify the strengths and limitations in a variety of local citizen-action projects and to package the lessons learned in forms that will enable the country as a whole to share them.

The grant from ARBA will be used primarily to collect and evaluate information on citizen involvement experiences and to distribute this information to the network communities. ARBA will arrange for distribution of these materials to public officials and civic leaders in other U. S. communities seeking models for effective citizen involvement. Many national organizations with on-going citizen-action projects are being invited to cooperate in the information exchange.

Over and above the ARBA grant, about $2 million a year will be sought from other federal agencies, private organizations and local community sources.

Mr. Wirtz said the project represented the most ambitious initiative yet taken through a consortium of public and private agencies "to commemorate the American Revolution through an action program embodying the same values and principles that motivated U. S. citizens during the formative years of the republic."

Serving with Mr. Wirtz as initial directors of Citizen Involvement Network are William Friday, president of the University of North Carolina; Edward Hamilton, formerly deputy mayor of New York City and now a management consultant in San Francisco; and Dr. Roy Menninger, president of the Menninger Foundation of Topeka, Kansas. Mr. Wirtz, who holds the title of president, said that three to five more members of the board will be named shortly. John N. Gentry of the firm of Wirtz and Gentry has been designated executive director of the Network.

NOTICE OF FILING APPLICATION FOR INCREASES FOR INTRASTATE TELEPHONE RATES

The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company on September 30, 1974, filed with the Public Utilities Commission of the State of California an application for authority to increase certain intrastate rates and charges applicable to telephone service furnished within the State of California. The proposed rate increases will permit Pacific to offset increases in expenses due to wage, salary and associated increases. In general terms, the proposed rate changes are as follows:

No changes would be made in basic monthly exchange service rates. Service connection charges would increase for new and additional service, moves of customer's telephone sets, certain changes of customer's sets and key telephone system services, and in place connection charges. The charge for initial connection of a residence telephone would be increased from $24.00 to $30.00; the business charge would increase from $35.00 to $45.00. The charge for a customer-initiated change in telephone number would increase from $5.00 to $10.00 for a residence telephone, and from $10.00 to $15.00 for a business telephone.

Charges for line extension and service connection facilities in suburban areas would be changed to reduce the free footage allowance and to base charges for excess footage on a percentage of cost instead of a flat rate per foot.

For intrastate message toll service, increases are proposed in operator-handled station and person rates. The day period direct dialed initial period would be reduced from three minutes to one minute. Under this arrangement, messages shorter than three minutes would generally cost less and messages of three minutes or longer would cost more. In the evening, the rate for direct dialed messages under 51 miles would be increased, with decreases at certain mileage steps. The night direct dialed rate would be extended to include all day Saturday. For coin calls, a separate rate schedule would be established.

Residence extensions would be increased from $1.00 to $1.25 per month.

TOUCH-TONE Calling Service would be restructured for individual line and multi-line business and residence service and PBX trunks. Some key equipment installation charges would be increased.

The Wide Area Telephone Service installation charge per access line would increase from $10.00 to $50.00.

Certain miscellaneous and supplemental equipment in station charges and certain private line supplemental equipment installation charges would be increased.

The rates proposed in the application are estimated to produce additional annual gross revenue of $83,800,000 above present rate levels.

Hearings on the application will be set at a later date. Notice of such hearings will be published not less than five or more than thirty days prior to the initial hearing.

The Company's proposed rates would become effective in various California counties and municipal corporations, including the County of Monterey and the Cities of Seaside & Sand City, upon grant of authority therefor by the California Public Utilities Commission.

A copy of the application may be inspected by any interested person in the office of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company at 787 Munras Avenue, Monterey, California and in the offices of the Public Utilities Commission of the State of California, Fifth Floor, State Building, Civic Center, San Francisco, California, and State Building, 107 South Broadway, Los Angeles, California.

Peninsula YWCA Offers New Classes

The YWCA of the Monterey Peninsula has announced the opening of a new series of classes with a focus on the woman and her position, whether as a working woman or as a member of a family unit. The series title for all five classes is "Personal Growth and Family Communication" and they begin the week of October 7.

Starting the week, Monday October 7 from 10:00 to noon will be a class in child discipline "Spare the Rod: Alternatives to Child Beating". The class is designed to help parents understand what influences social relations and how to become a more effective communicator. Instructor Esther Feeney has a B.A. in psychology and is a certified instructor in family communication courses. The class will be held at the YWCA headquarters in the Lyceum Building, Valley Way and Highway One.

Monday evenings at the YWCA, 7:30 to 9:30 pm, beginning October 7, the women's imagination and creativity are challenged in "Innovative Interiors" a mind-opening class in new ideas in decorating. Instructor, Joan Lascola, is an Interior Design Consultant for the Peninsula and Salinas.

Tuesday, October 8, at the YWCA, Career Counseling for Adults will meet from 10:30 to noon. Group leaders are licensed California psychologists, Dr. Iona Logie and Dr. Margaret Bennet.

"Having Troubles with Values" is a six-week workshop focusing on personal growth, human interaction and acceptance of yourself and others. Esther Feeney instructs, Wednesdays, beginning October 9 from 10 am until noon at the YWCA headquarters.

Completing the program on Personal Growth and Family Communication will be a course on Parenting, taught by Pat Hahs, an M.A. in marriage and family counseling. The first class meeting will be held at the Hahs home.

1520 Salinas Highway in Monterey, Wednesday evening, October 9, 7:30 to 9:30 pm. The course is 8 weeks long.

Registration for all classes can be made by calling the YWCA office at 625-1745.

Congressman Burt L. Talcott said that the taxation of the "forgiven" portions of educational loans works a tremendous injustice on thousands of college graduates. In a letter to the House and Senate Conferees currently meeting on H.R. 12035 Talcott urged acceptance of an amendment to this legislation which would rescind such taxation.

Talcott noted that, "The Congress never intended for these forgiven loans to be taxed. The loan portions are forgiven because the graduate has met certain conditions required by the loan, such as teaching school in a disadvantaged school district, working as a nurse in areas of medical personnel shortage, and the like; yet the IRS has been taxing loan recipients, charging interest plus penalties and trying to collect retroactively as far back as three years. "By continually demanding payment the IRS is working a severe financial hardship on many young graduates who are complying with the intent of the law and I support the remedial legislation which would eliminate this wasteful harassment."

Loan Tax Called Injustice

In spite of higher fuel costs, there are some things you can do to cut your heating bills this winter.

True, the cost of fuel oil and natural gas continues to climb. And that's something that we have no more control over than you do. It means, among other things, that to continue giving you the kind of service you're accustomed to, we've had to increase our rates. Because we, too, use fuel oil and natural gas—to keep our generating plants running. But winter itself contributes to bigger PG&E bills. During winter you use more energy to light and heat your home. And while you can't control the weather—or rising fuel costs—you can save energy and help hold down your heating bills by following these simple pay-for-themselves suggestions:

- Have your furnace person check your heating system now. Also clean or replace filters if necessary. That way you'll be sure your furnace is working efficiently and is ready for winter before the first cold snap.
- Weatherstrip around doors and windows. This keeps the warm air in and the cold air out where it belongs.
- Insulate. Good insulation in walls and ceilings can cut heating up to 45%. Which means it can pay for itself.
- Shut damper when your fireplace is not in use. If you leave it open, cold air rushes in and furnace heat escapes. Also, shutting drapes over windows at night can reduce heat lost through windows by as much as 16%.
- Set your thermostat at 68° or lower. Turn it down even more when you leave home or go to bed.
